

GREY PROJECTS

Grey Projects is a non-profit artist-run alternative art space dedicated to providing an environment and resources conducive for artistic practice and dialogue. Our programming covers residency, exhibition and publications. We receive artists both local and international, working in a diverse range of disciplines including design, photography, literature, film and performance. We are keen to support new proposals and foster discourse between art practitioners, and we are continually open to opportunities for partnerships and exchange.

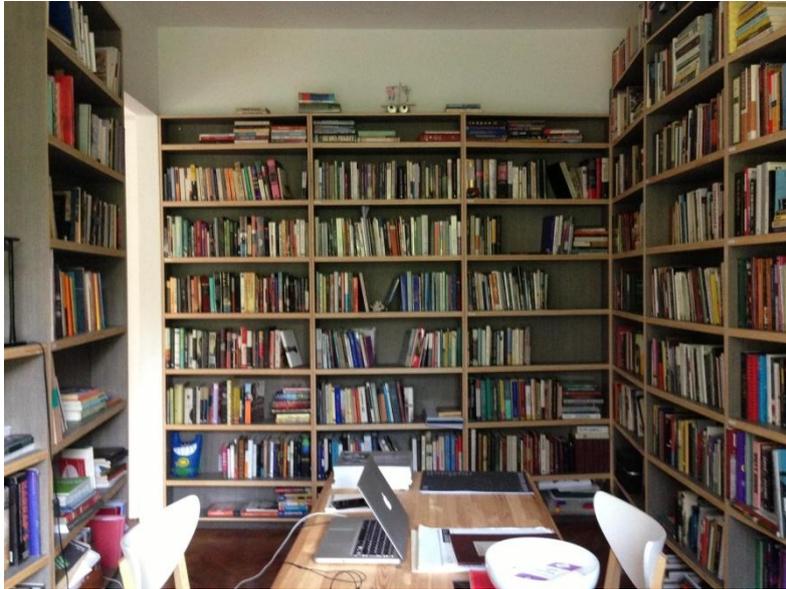

Grey Projects is located in the heart of Singapore's oldest housing estate, Tiong Bahru, which is increasingly gaining recognition for its independent retailers, cafes, design stores, and art community.

Our premises houses a studio, a library, a residence, and two exhibition spaces.

GREY PROJECTS

Our studio space is periodically open for use; interested individuals may find more information under 'Residencies'. Electricity, air-conditioning and wireless internet service are available at all times within our space. Our space is modest, but its intimacy allows for an apt communal atmosphere that encourages communication and engagement.

Through our publications, we aim to explore and discuss artists and art-related activity in local and regional contexts.

Through our residency programmes, we have hosted artistic practitioners from Europe and Africa, including curators, poets and playwrights. Our current highlight is an international exchange residency between Singapore and Barcelona, with our partners Hangar (hangar.org) Les Bernardes (bernardes.cat) and Singcat (singcat.info).
